二、 閱讀測驗 (5 題，一題 3 分，共 15 分)

Without a doubt, Russia's invasion of Ukraine and the subsequent ongoing conflict there have affected other countries around the world. The refugee crisis is spreading to the nations nearby. In addition, rising oil and food prices are impacting Europe and other regions. The threat of nuclear war caused increased global tension and worries. Unfortunately, after declaring the announcement of the death of the first Taiwanese combatant in this war, the war in Ukraine has sadly hit home in Taiwan recently.

The news reported that Tseng Shen-Kuang was killed in the war in early November. The twenty-five-year-old fighter was born in Ji'an Township in Hualien County. In June, Tseng boarded a flight to Ukraine to volunteer to serve in the battle, heeding a call for volunteers that Ukrainian officials had issued Russia's invasion of their land.

Tseng joined the Carpathian Sich Battalion in September, becoming a member of an infantry unit comprised of volunteers from both Ukraine and foreign countries. Not long after, Tseng was sent into combat, and it was reported that he was eventually killed in action while fighting in Ukraine's Luhansk region.

Survived by his wife and parents in Taiwan, Tseng was honored by the Ukrainian military with a farewell ceremony in Kyiv, and he was praised by the Ukrainian Parliament Foreign Affairs Committee Chairman, Oleksandr Merezhko, for making the ultimate sacrifice

A fun Halloween party turned into a night of terror on the streets of Seoul on October 30. 156 people died in a crush in the South Korean capital's Itaewon district. Most were in their teens, twenties and thirties, and around a hundred of them were women. More than 200 others were injured. Partygoers fell to the ground and got trampled in the crush. The tragedy happened during Seoul's first Halloween celebrations in three years.

Crowd crushes like this can be deadly. A popular event can become very risky if there are more than four people per square meter of ground. In Itaewon, people were also filtered from a wide path onto a narrow one. The greatest risk is to those nearest to the surrounding walls. People may be squeezed too tightly to get air into their lungs. It only takes about 30 seconds to cut off the oxygen supply to the brain. Then victim dies of asphyxiation (窒息). As people realize what is happening, they may start to panic and the threat of a killer crowd crush will worsen. Once people in a dense crowd start to fall over, it is impossible to stop.

Good advance planning and crowd management can prevent tragedies like Itaewon's. Other crowd crushes in the past have had the same main cause. It is the movement of a large number of people into a small area with few escape routes. As Christmas and the New Year approach, many people are planning to attend large public events. They need to be aware of the risks. In addition, crowds must be properly managed and safety measures put in place. In this way, everyone can have a good time. Most importantly, nobody will lose their life.

- () 44. What is NOT a main topic in this passage?
- (A) A tragic event in Seoul in October. (B) The popularity of Halloween in Korea.
- (C) The possible causes of a crowd crush. (D) Methods of preventing a crowd crush.
