(1) For the past few years, superhero movies have ruled Hollywood. In addition to entertaining us, superheroes can also help us become better people. As children, we were brought to heroes in comic books. The first things we loved about heroes were their super powers. This gave us hope that one day, we might become as strong and smart as they are. Heroes taught us good behaviors and the proper ways to act. Heroes are honest, and they live to help others. Superheroes can also encourage us to be brave. They are always fighting against evil villains who are just as powerful as they are. In most stories, the hero is in danger of being defeated before they save the day. This reminds us that in life, we should never give up when times get tough. Moreover, we should keep trying our best just like our favorite heroes would do. 1. When we are not good at doing something, we might feel embarrassed. However, there is a lot to be gained from knowing what our weaknesses are and accepting the fact that we are all not perfect. When we accept our weaknesses, we open up chances to be positive and change how we think. We no longer spend time and energy trying to hide them and thus accept ourselves as who we are. Besides, we may also learn that many of our weaknesses are actually things we fear. For example, some people think they are not good at public speaking, but is it because they are bad speakers or just because they are afraid of speaking in front of others? Each of us should turn weaknesses into the power that helps us move on in our lives. 11.What does this passage mainly talk about? (A)How to face our fears. (B)Accepting our negative sides. (4) One of the most valuable tips a person can receive is to follow his or her passion. This is what the founder of Giant Bicycles, King Liu, did and he became successful.Liu was born in Taiwan in 1934. After he graduated from high school, he did several different businesses. Then, he decided to focus on cycling, a hobby that he enjoyed most. When he started Giant, it was just a small bike factory. In fact, the company didn’t receive any orders in its first four years. Liu’s passion for cycling kept it going though, and it grew to become one of the world’s largest bike manufacturers. In 2009, Liu helped Taipei city government to build Taiwan’s YouBike system to make bike riding cheaper and more convenient for everyone. Although he’s in his 80s now, Liu continues to cycle around Taiwan proving that it’s never too late to get in shape.
