三 、 篇章結構(1 小題，每格 2 分，共 8 分)

- (A) When it comes to cities, a name is just a name.
(B) At the time, Westerners were fascinated with ancient Egyptian culture.
(C) They even built a pyramid of their own called the Great American Pyramid.
(D) Despite these fun similarities, the two Memphis are completely different in other ways.

Memphis is the second largest city in the US state of Tennessee. But few people know that Memphis was named after an ancient Egyptian city that now lies in ruins. What similarities inspired the American city’s founders? Read on to find out!

When the American city was founded in 1819, the three founders decided to call it Memphis after the ancient city in Egypt.

__21__ Moreover, Memphis, Egypt, lay beside the mighty Nile River, while the new Memphis occupied a similar position beside a major river, the Mississippi.

Comparing Memphis, Egypt, and Memphis, Tennessee, in America today, there are some surprising similarities. Besides the fact that they both sit next to a big river, modern-day Memphians (people from Memphis, US) look to ancient Egypt for inspiration in their architecture. __22__ At 321 feet tall, it is the 10th largest pyramid in the world! Meanwhile, the Memphis Zoo has Egyptian-themed buildings and a large collection of African animals. Last but not least, there’s a giant statue of Egyptian pharaoh* Ramses II standing at the University of Memphis.

__23__ The original Memphis was established 2,000 years ago and then abandoned in the 7th century, while Memphis in the US is a modern city with only a couple hundred years of history since being officially founded. The pyramids of ancient Memphis were built for the pharaohs. Their exterior* was built of stone, while the interior* contained secret rooms for the pharaohs’ tombs. On the other hand, the Great American Pyramid was built as an entertainment complex with shops, restaurants, and even a bowling alley on different floors inside. The Egyptian Memphis had 20,000-30,000 people, while America’s Memphis is home to 650,000.

__24__ But for some residents, it is much more than that. Memphians take their connection to Memphis, Egypt quite seriously. This tie has given a fun and unique twist to a modern American city.

四 、 閱讀測驗(1 小題，每格 2 分，共 6 分)

1. Fake meat, also known as plant-based meat, is becoming increasingly popular. More and more people are starting to follow healthier diets that can avoid causing harm to animals and the environment at the same time. While it’s reasonable to argue that cutting meat from our diets is good news for cows, pigs, and other farm animals, is fake meat actually better for our health and for the environment?

In terms of calories, plant-based meat is a healthier choice in comparison with real meat because it has fewer calories. However, plant-based meat usually contains a lot of salt and other processed ingredients that might actually harm our bodies. So, if we really want to be healthy, the best choice is to stick with whole foods* like vegetables, fruits, nuts, grains, and seeds.

As for the environment, most scientists agree that our planet would benefit greatly if everyone replaced meat with alternatives such as fake meat. Plant-based meat requires much less water and land to produce than real meat does and also results in far fewer emissions. Furthermore, with the world’s population expected to increase to 9.7 billion by 2050, plant-based meat could be an important food source in the future.
