三、綜合測驗(20 小題，每題 1.5 分，共 30 分)

1. In recent years, many public schools in the United States have struggled to receive enough funding. It has taken a long time for the government to come around to this problem, and in a lot of smaller towns it is already too late. Scholars, schoolteachers, and politicians have been thinking more about __(29)_____ the amount of money available to public schools. That is, public schools do __(30)_____ receiving enough money. __(31)_____, the poorest schools can barely afford to provide lunches for their students, and in some schools the sports teams do not even have uniforms or equipment*. This makes it harder for children in those schools to live healthy lives, and makes it more difficult for talented young athletes to fully develop their __(32)_____. Public schools around the country cannot simply wait for __(33)_____ wealthy people to donate* money to them. The government should step in to help to provide sufficient funding for these schools, before it is too late!

2. Is graffiti art? Some see it as criminal, __(34)_____ others point to history to say that yes, it is indeed art. In fact, the very first art in human history—cave drawings—were a(n) __(35)_____ of graffiti. These cave drawings were of many things, from wildlife to ancient rituals, and were made thousands of years ago. Fast forward to the time of the ancient Greeks and Romans. They too practiced graffiti, which __(36)_____ many forms. Often, it was poems in protest of the actions of the government, or simply just their names. This is quite similar to modern-day graffiti, which can be traced to the city of Philadelphia in the early 1960s. There, it was gangs __(37)_____ used graffiti to show that a neighborhood or area belonged to them. __(38)_____, the negative side of graffiti was revealed; painting on a wall is one thing, but gang activity is quite another. So, perhaps history is not enough to prove that graffiti is really art.

3. Every year during the Dragon Boat Festival, my family follows a special custom. This involves* having homemade rice dumplings __(39)_____ to hungry families. In the days leading up to the __(40)_____ holiday, my grandparents prepare the ingredients* for the rice dumplings. During this period, I can't wait __(41)_____ home from school to help them wrap the rice dumplings in bamboo leaves. In fact, I don't just enjoy spending time with my grandparents, who tell me funny stories and teach me __(42)_____ to wrap the rice dumplings; I also use this as an excuse to escape from my homework! I know that if I am busy helping to make the rice dumplings, __(43)_____ them carefully one by one, then my parents will forget about my homework. By the time they figure out my plan, it will be late at night, and they will __(44)_____ have time to scold* me. __(45)_____, this can only go on for a few days. Before we know it, the Dragon Boat Festival will __(46)_____ be upon us, and we will be ready to give away hundreds of homemade rice dumplings. I always __(47)_____ riding with my grandpa on his motorcycle to take the rice dumplings to a charity*. In the future, I definitely plan to __(48)_____ this special family tradition. By doing this good deed every year, my grandparents have taught me the value of treating others with kindness.

Every year, our Christmas tree has a white envelope in its branches. It all began with my husband, Mike, who hated the __49__ parts of Christmas. That year, our son's school team had a wrestling __50__. The other team was poor, with no __51__ equipment. This made Mike sad. So, later, I anonymously bought new equipment for those children. I wrote this on a note and put it in the Christmas tree as his present. __52__ Christmas Day, he read it and was happy. So, we decided to make it a tradition. Our three children would get so excited that they'd forget about their own gifts! Unfortunately, Mike passed away __53__ cancer last year. Although I was sad, I still put an envelope in the branches on Christmas Eve. However, the next day, three more envelopes were there! It makes me happy to know our children will pass this tradition on to their children, too.

五、閱讀測驗(6 小題 · 每題 2 分 · 共 12 分)

1. Originally, the purpose of Christmas was to celebrate the birth of Jesus Christ. Over time, the holiday spread to many countries. In Europe, Christmas became associated with winter. Pine trees, reindeer, and snow became important symbols of the holiday. Today, we can see these symbols during Christmas celebrations all over the world, even though some of those countries are actually hot during Christmas!

One of those countries is Australia, sometimes called the Land "Down Under" because it is located in the southern half of the world. December 25 is a hot, dry summer day in Australia. So how do Australians celebrate this holiday in such a climate?

Due to the pleasant weather, Australians like to spend Christmas Day outside. Popular activities include picnics in the park, barbecues by the river or swimming pool, or camping. For Christmas lunch, it wouldn't make sense to cook a whole turkey. Instead, Australians prepare lighter foods that are more suitable for summer, such as seafood, salads, and cheesecake.

Australian children love Christmas just as much as kids from other countries. They enjoy a long break from school, and receive gifts that can be used outside, such as bicycles or skateboards. Christmas in Australia may lack snow, but that doesn't mean it's not fun!

- ( ) (54) What is the purpose of the first paragraph?
- (A) To explain why Jesus's birth is the central theme of Christmas.
- (B) To explain how some symbols of winter have become linked to Christmas and thus can be seen all over the world.
- (C) To point out that people don't celebrate Christmas on hot days.
- (D) To explain that different climates lead to special ways of celebrating Christmas in different countries.
- ( ) (55) Which of the following statements about Australians' Christmas is NOT true?
- (A) Australians like to enjoy outdoor activities on Christmas, and they sometimes even go camping.
- (B) During Christmas, it is usually hot and dry in Australia.
- (C) Australians enjoy having picnics in the park on Christmas.
- (D) Besides eating turkey, Australians also like to eat seafood, salads, and cheesecake for their Christmas lunch.
- ( ) (56) According to the article, which of the following is probably true about Australian children?
- (A) They do not have to go to school on Christmas, even though they have a shorter vacation than other countries.
- (B) Because of the weather, they have less fun on Christmas than other children in the world.
- (C) They may think skateboards are good Christmas gifts because they can be used outside.
- (D) They wish they could celebrate their Christmas on a snowy day.

2. Graffiti seems ugly to some people, and criminal to others. But it can also be a force for social change.

One artist who is using graffiti to change the way people think is Tatyana Fazlalizadeh. Fazlalizadeh lives in New York and has created a powerful public art series that addresses the problem of sexual harassment, something which women experience all too often. The series is called Stop Telling Women to Smile, and it contains portraits of women who have been interviewed by Fazlalizadeh about their experiences with sexual harassment on the street. Beneath the portraits are various phrases, such as “My name is not Baby.” This phrase raises our awareness of the problem of street harassment and what can be done to fight it.

Another artist who used street art for raising social awareness was Keith Haring. His work entitled Crack is Wack, painted on a wall in Manhattan in 1986, warns the public of the dangers of doing drugs, as well as criticizing the government for doing too little about the drug problem that had a serious impact on people at that time.

By using buildings and other public surfaces, these artists created art with important messages right where the problems happen. People who walk past these works might stop and think twice about sexual harassment and drug use.

(     ) (57) What does this passage tell us?

- (A) The secrets to becoming a successful street artist.
- (B) How street artists turn their passion into a business.
- (C) What’s inside the mind of a street artist.
- (D) How street artists use graffiti to make a change.

(     ) (58) Which of the following is NOT correct?

- (A) Crack is Wack warns people to stay away from drugs.
- (B) Graffiti is a way for artists to express their social and political views.
- (C) Stop Telling Women to Smile is a large wall painting with several figures of gangsters in it.
- (D) Stop Telling Women to Smile aims to attract public attention to the social problem of street harassment.

(     ) (59) As used in the passage, what kind of behavior is harassment?

- (A) It annoys others.   (B) It tricks others.   (C) It deserts others.   (D) It attacks others.
