Jean always wanted to be at the top of her class. To get there, she knew she had to study more. But every evening when she tried to study, she felt too tired and could not stay up. Thus, she began to drink coffee to stay awake. She found this really helped. She could stay awake all night and get a lot of things done. Coffee was her new favorite thing in the world.

Nevertheless, she began to notice a few problems. First, when she stayed up too late, she felt really tired next day. Then, she began to drink coffee both in the daytime and at night. She could not do anything without coffee. If she did not have it, she would get a headache. She also took naps at unusual times, and her relationships with her family members and friends got worse.

One day, she decided to give up coffee. She even wrote a letter to her favorite drink to explain her decision. It was not easy, but she felt it had to be done.

29. Why did Jean like to drink coffee?

(A) She wanted to sleep better at night.

(B) She could have more time to take a nap.

(C) She could finish more things at night.

(D) She wanted to develop strong relationships.

30. Which of the following did not happen to Jean?

(A) She could not quit coffee because it was helpful.

(B) She had headaches when she did not have coffee.

(C) Her relationships with others were affected.

(D) Without coffee, she had trouble staying awake.

31. What does the author try to tell the readers?

(A) Coffee helps people a lot.

(B) Be careful with coffee.

(C) Coffee is a popular drink.

(D) Staying up is not healthy.
