六 、 閱讀 6%

My grade-10 teacher is probably the wisest teacher I know. Ms. Wilson often told us that if we wanted to get good grades, we had to study hard. Still, many students in our class didn't listen to her advice. One day, she asked about 10 students to stay after class after they failed a test. I was one of those students.

We were worried Ms. Wilson would be angry. However, she calmly began telling us the following story. One day a man walked past a line of elephants. The animals were tied together with thin ropes. He wondered why the animals didn't break free. Surely they were strong enough. He asked their owner, and the owner replied, "Well, we used the same ropes when the elephants were very young and small. Even as they grew larger and stronger, they were used to believing they couldn't succeed in escaping*."

At that point, we all realized we were the elephants. We let a few small failures make us believe we couldn't succeed. It was time for that to change.

* escape vi. 逃跑

38. What is the main idea of the passage?
(A) Life is full of changes.
(B) One should always be a good friend to others.
(C) Don't let the past stop you from succeeding.
(D) Never judge a book by its cover.
39. Why didn't the elephants escape?
(A) The ropes were too thick.
(B) The owner hurt them.
(C) They had nowhere to go.
(D) They thought they couldn't.
40. Which of the following is NOT true?
(A) Ms. Wilson is a wise teacher.
(B) Ms. Wilson got angry at the students about their grades.
(C) The author (作者) is a high school student.
(D) The author identified with (和.....有共鳴) the elephants in the story.
